- ❑ Pre-course reading material will usually be available on WOLF and the core textbook from the JCEB Reference Area for collection from the date listed in the 'collection pre-course reading' column.
- ❑ Teaching dates – each module is taught in a nine day block Saturday to following Sunday with a reading time before teaching starts and an assessment period after teaching ends.
- ❑ Class times – Saturdays 1330-1900, Sundays 0930 –1830, weekdays (Monday – Wednesday & Friday) 1830-2130; teaching times may be subject to slight change by direct agreement between tutor and students in Hong Kong. Note: there are no classes on Thursday – this is to allow preparation/research time on Thursday evenings.
- ❑ Students will be notified of classrooms by CityU SCOPE staff before the taught section of the module begins.
- ❑ Whilst it is intended that this schedule be final it may be necessary, in exceptional circumstances (such as illness of a tutor) for changes to be made. Students will be notified of any changes as early as possible.
- ❑ Students must attempt/complete all modules.
- ❑ The tutor teaching in Hong Kong may vary from that shown but will always consist of an academic member of staff from the University of Wolverhampton Business School.
- ❑ *feedback deadline is extended due to Christmas holiday period in the UK
- ❑  this date is a Tuesday due to the Easter Holiday
- ❑ #day off during AC2016 will be Saturday 4 April 2009, not Thursday, as Saturday is public holiday for Ching Ming Festival
- ❑ ① Please note there are no extensions allowed to dissertation deadlines. The proposal deadline has been put back by one week (from the usual deadline) to allow for contact with supervisors after the Christmas break, however you must not leave correspondence until the last minute as academics will be busy marking assignments in the UK, and the proposal deadline is during the teaching block for EC3049.
